Exciting Updates: SSGH Website Launch, Kick-Off Event & Our New Logo!

Dear colleagues,

We are delighted to share some exciting news as our Swiss Society for Gender Health (SSGH) takes its next steps forward !

Website Launch www.ssgh.ch

Our official website is now live! It will serve as the main hub for updates, resources, and information about our activities. We invite you to explore it and stay connected with our work.

SSGH Kick-Off Event

Date & Time: 9 September 2025, 17:30-20:00

Location: University of Bern, Hochschulstrasse 4, Main building, Aula

The evening will feature inspiring talks and a panel discussion “From awareness to action: how can we bring gender-sensitive medicine to everyday healthcare?” followed by an apéro, giving everyone the chance to meet, exchange ideas, and build our community.

We warmly encourage you to join us! More information and registration here: Events | Swiss Society for Gender Health

Logo Contest Winner

A big thank you to all participants for their creativity and engagement! We're pleased to announce the winner of our logo contest: Louis Stavart — congratulations!

The logo was refined based on feedback from the committee, and we're thrilled to present the final version that will be proudly displayed across all our platforms.

The logo features flowing lines inspired by mountain–lake rhythms, symbolizing both the Swiss landscape and the curves of medical graphs. The crossing lines reflect collaboration, balance, and diversity, while the curves evoke natural and scientific forms such as sound waves or blood vessels. Together, these elements remind us that health is not only data, but also a lived and felt experience.

Upcoming Online Webinars on Sex and Gender Topics

A new series of interprofessional webinars is currently being organized, focusing on various aspects of sex and gender. These sessions will offer a valuable opportunity to deepen your knowledge and connect with the vibrant Swiss network in this field.

The full list of webinars will be shared with you very soon and will also be available on our website.

We look forward to seeing many of you at our Kick-Off Event and to building this exciting journey together.

With best regards,
The Members of the SSGH Committee
