Module Primary Care & Health Services

- Learn to recognize sex and gender specificities in a selection of primary care topics.
- Develop a critical awareness of common gender stereotypes that might bias clinical activities and management of patients in primary care.
- Include intimate partner violence into the health issues to be addressed by general practitioners.
- Acquire knowledge about specific needs of LGBT+ people in primary health care.
- Engage in a reflexive exercise to identify how one's social position influences the relation to others in clinical practice.

The module is CME-accredited.
