- Call for collaboration: Raising Awareness on the SAGER-SwissEthics Guidelines

As part of a project funded by the 83rd NRP, Prof. Angèle Gayet-Ageron and team are launching an awareness campaign to promote the new SAGER-SwissEthics guidelines and are looking for committed SSGH members to get involved in two key ways:

1. Presenters for Training Sessions

We're looking for engaged and visible professionals in the field to deliver presentations — in German and Italian — at training sessions for Research Ethics Committees (RECs). Credibility and recognition are essential in the academic medical world, and we hope to involve respected voices from within our network.

2. Gender Advocates within RECs

We're also seeking allies within various Swiss RECs who can serve as a “gender lens” during the review of submitted research protocols, helping ensure a gender-sensitive evaluation process.
